

Truman Drops Demands For $4 Billion Tax Increase

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Truman today cancelled his call for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase. He bowed to a temporary deficit spending policy to head off any depression.

"No major increase in taxes should be undertaken at this time"—were the President's words. Also: "We cannot expect to achieve a budget surplus in a declining economy."

Stunning Reversal
In a stunning reversal of his stand, Mr. Truman sent to Congress a midyear economic report wiped clean of his past demands for price, wage or other business controls.

Instead—stating that unemployment is acute in some areas—he proposed 11 new laws to build up jobs and production, boost consumer income and buying power, and loosen federal lending.

All the ideas were familiar. Most were not drastic. They included public works planning, but not more public works; the Brannan farm plan; expansion of social security and jobless pay; extended GI benefits.

No Crisis Action Needed
Crisis action isn't needed, Mr. Truman said, because the economy still is strong and healthy. It can hit a soaring annual output of "well above $300,000,000,000" in a few years, he predicted. That is one-fifth higher than today's national production.

"But there is nothing healthy about more unemployment or less production," Congress was told. "Such trends can and must be reversed by positive action, private and public. X X X 'Our own people insist upon the maintenance of prosperity, and will not tolerate a depression.'"

The President's council of economic advisers, in an accompanying report, was somewhat more optimistic in general tone than Mr. Truman. It found the business outlook reassuring. But agreed that federal action is called for.

Some Taxes Exceeded
"We may have the unique and fortunate experience of liquidating a major inflation without falling into a severe recession," the three-member council reported.

In a sentence certain to win the acclaim of business, Mr. Truman took his stand against any major increase in taxes.

Only estate and gift tax rates should be raised, he said. He added that the transportation tax on goods should be wiped out and the "carry-over" of losses in corporation taxes should be liberalized.

The expected results: (A) Better profit prospects for industry. (B) A small net loss in federal revenue, in place of the thumping boost in corporation rates and income taxes which the President asked in his January economic message and for which he spoke again only a month ago.

The President failed at legislators who insist on government economy to the point of cutting "essential national programs" like defense and foreign aid. Nothing could represent greater economic folly," he said.

HEAVY TRAVEL OVER WEEK-END

Tourist travel in Gettysburg Saturday and Sunday totaled 9,198, according to figures compiled by Vernon S. Lunt, superintendent of the National cemetery.

There were 137 guided trips over the battlefield on Saturday, Mr. Lunt said, and seven buses made the tour of the field, carrying 241 persons. Guided trips accounted for a known figure of 459, with many other cars visiting the historical points of interest without guides.

On Sunday there were 141 guided trips which accounted for 530 visitors, two buses carrying 61 persons. The estimated total on Saturday was 4,625 and on Sunday it was 4,573.

As on past week-ends and the long Fourth of July week-end, there were automobiles here from many states, including California and others almost as far distant.

Traffic on the main highways through Gettysburg was heavy again Saturday afternoon and particularly on Sunday, despite the morning's rain.

ANOTHER MOVE IS STARTED TO FREE SIMMONS

Ray H. Simmons, sentenced to die the week of September 26 for the March, 1947, claw-hammer slaying of an aged Adams county farmer, has petitioned the State Supreme Court for reargument of his case on the basis of recent decisions by the United States Supreme Court.

Thomas D. Caldwell, Harrisburg, counsel for the convicted murderer of Herbert Humpert, 80-year-old farmer of near Gardner, filed the petition with the highest state court in Philadelphia over the week-end.

The request for reargument is based on three recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court dealing with the "due process" clause of the Constitution with respect to the use of evidence of confessions obtained from defendants taken into custody without formal charges and before their arraignment.

Teeter To Answer
District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter said this morning that he had received a copy of the petition from Attorney Caldwell and that he also had received a telephone call from the Harrisburg attorney with reference to the petition.

The local attorney said that he has written the State Supreme Court requesting sufficient time to study the issue before filing an answer. He explained that he intends to secure a complete statement of the facts in the three cases, cited by Caldwell in his petition, in which decisions had been handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court. These form the basis for Caldwell's newest petition.

After he receives the information he requests District Attorney Teeter said he will file his answer.

Basis Of Plea
It is alleged that in violation of the United States Court rulings Simmons was arrested without a warrant on April 1, 1947, was confined without any papers of commitment and was held incommunicado at the state police barracks in Harrisburg, his request for a lawyer and for the right to communicate with his parents was denied, no food was provided for him for 38 hours and he was without water eight hours and that he did not receive a magistrate's hearing until April 8, seven days after his arrest, according to the petition.

Simmons is now in the Dauphin county prison awaiting execution on his conviction. Previously, on April 22, the State Supreme Court dismissed petitions for a new trial for the Mechanicsburg youth on the grounds, among other things, of a violation of his constitutional rights as well as after-discovered evidence.

EX-SERGEANT J. MERRIFIELD DIES IN BLAZE

Miami, Fla., July 11 (AP)—A retired Pennsylvania State Trooper and his wife burned to death Saturday night in an apartment fire started by a cigarette. Fire Chief Henry R. Chase identified the pair as Joseph Merrifield, 56, and his wife, Nellie, 48.

(More than 20 years ago Merrifield was stationed at the Gettysburg substation and is well known here.)

Merrifield, an invalid, died of suffocation and his wife, more than half her body burned, died less than two hours later at Jackson Memorial hospital.

Homicide Detective Neal Coston said Merrifield was a retired sergeant of Pennsylvania State Police and carried a watch given him by Troop E for 25 years' service. Merrifield was a native of Harrisburg and his wife came from Wilkes-Barre.

Firemen Find Bodies
Funeral services have not been arranged pending arrival of a sister, Mrs. Anna Wells, from Harrisburg.

Merrifield died before firemen broke into the bedroom where he lay on a bed with his wife. His watch was stopped at 8:45 p. m. The alarm was spread by Corinne Sader, 25, a nurse at Sun Ray Rest hospital where Mrs. Merrifield was a part-time special duty nurse.

Only the bedroom and contents of an adjoining closet were damaged by flames. Firemen said the blaze started on another bed in the room and not on the one where the victims lay.

Merrifield, whose health was poor at the time of his retirement, left Harrisburg for Florida and had lived there for about 15 years.

London, July 11 (AP)—King George VI proclaimed a state of emergency today to deal with a crippling strike on the London docks. Chief Of Police Harpster Rented Ground For Recent Carnival, Police Are Told

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster was definitely linked with the appearance here on July 6, 7, 8 and 9 of the Garden State Greater Shows Saturday.

Shortly after 11 men had entered pleas of nolle contendere, Saturday afternoon, to charges of operating gambling games on the carnival lot on West High street, Mrs. Bertram Larkin, 339 Carlisle street, revealed that she had rented the land to Harpster for $25 for a carnival.

Mrs. Larkin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Berger, formerly of Gettysburg, now residing in Philadelphia. Mr. Berger said his wife owned the land on which the carnival was held, and that their daughter acted as agent for them since they moved to Philadelphia.

Talk To Trooper
Mr. Berger went to the state police substation on Carlisle street Saturday afternoon. He talked with Cpl. Jack Bartlett, who signed the informations against the 11 men charged with gambling. Bartlett, at Berger's request, also talked to Mrs. Larkin.

"Chief Harpster came to see me during the week of June 27, I don't remember exactly what day, and rented the grounds for a carnival to be held, he said, early in July," Mrs. Larkin told the trooper.

"He told me it was going to be for the benefit of the Junior Police. I rented it to him with the understanding that there would be no gambling and no immoral shows."

"Chief Harpster promised and assured me that there would be 'nothing like that.'"

Mrs. Larkin revealed that she first set the rental of the grounds at $10 a day. She said Harpster "haggled" over the price, claiming that an organization which sponsored a carnival last year got only $19.

Harpster Pays Rental

Mrs. Larkin said she finally rented the grounds to Harpster for $25, that he paid her the money and she gave him a receipt for it.

On Sunday morning Cpl. Bartlett received another call from Mr. Berger, who reported that Chief Harpster had just called at the Larkin home on Carlisle street asking to see Mrs. Larkin. He offered to pay an additional $15 for the ground rental, Berger said. This would bring the total amount to the price originally asked by Mrs. Larkin.

Harpster was informed that Mrs. Larkin was unable to see him, and was advised to return later. The $15 was not accepted.

A part of the original agreement, according to Mrs. Larkin, was that the grounds were to be cleaned up after the carnival closed. She was advised to accept the additional $15 only if it were stipulated that the grounds had not been cleaned up, and the additional amount was to be used for this purpose.

Harpster On Vacation
"We don't want anyone to feel that we had any connection with or part of the conditions reported found by state police at the carnival Friday night," Mrs. Larkin said, "or that we, in any way, condoned alleged gambling at the carnival. On the contrary, I insisted inasmuch as I understood there had been some trouble at a carnival that was here last year, that there be no gambling or immoral shows. I was promised by Chief Harpster that there would not be."

Harpster left Gettysburg shortly after his visit to the Larkin home Sunday morning.

Burgess C. A. Heiges today denied rumors that the chief of police had resigned. "He is taking a few more days vacation," the Burgess said. "He has said nothing to me about resigning." According to the Burgess, Harpster was "on vacation" part of last week. "He had only a couple of days of vacation," Heiges said, "and is taking more this week."

Special Officer Called
Borough Police Officer Paul Shealer, who usually works as an "extra" was called in to work in Harpster's place.

Police Officer Kenneth Tawney called a Gettysburg Times reporter Sunday night and declared that he had not received any money for being on duty at the carnival grounds last week.

GOVERNOR OF TEXAS EXPIRES

Houston, Tex., July 11 (AP)—Governor Beauford Jester was found dead today in his Pullman berth on a train at the Southern Pacific railway station. Jester was 59.

First word of the governor's death was received when someone at the station telephoned Homicide Lieutenant W. P. Brown of the Houston police department about 7:35 a. m. (CST).

The lieutenant dispatched three homicide detectives, Lloyd Barrett, L. L. Watts and Frank Murray, to the station to begin an investigation.

However, Brown said that as far as he knew the governor died a natural death. Justice Tom Mares hurried to the station to begin an inquest.

Jester was serving his second term as governor. He took office in 1946.

The lieutenant governor, Allan Shivers, also serving his second term, will take over as governor.

Jester swept into office with an overwhelming majority two years ago. His victory was over Homer P. Rainey, ousted University of Texas president, his arch opponent.

FOURTH COVER SPRAY URGED

A post harvest, or fourth cover spray information letter, was sent out to cherry growers today by the county extension office.

Use of a spray consisting of two pounds of copper sulphate, six pounds of fresh spray lime and two pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder to 100 gallons of water is advised as soon as possible after July 12 to prevent cherry leaf spot and to control Japanese beetle.

The county office recommends that a fine mist be used to cover all the leaves of the cherry trees. The danger from leaf injury can be reduced by applying the spray only to dry foliage.

The extension service warned that Japanese beetles are "fairly abundant," and can defoliate cherry trees if not controlled. "In spite of lower than usual rainfall, leaf spot has been increasing, and protection is needed," the latter added.

GENERAL KILLED IN EXPLOSION ON CABIN CRUISER

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The general who headed the army's public relations and a retired navy officer were killed when a cabin cruiser exploded on the Potomac river yesterday. The dead: Maj. Gen. Vernon E. Prichard, 57, and Commodore Wilfred L. Painter, 41, USNR.

Navy Captain Sergius N. F. Loboshev and Johannes Johannesen, 40, steward at the fashionable Corinthian Yacht club, were carried on hospital critical lists today.

Eyewitnesses credited Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, one of those aboard, with great personal courage.

Rescues Two Biddle, soldier, athlete and diplomat, told reporters the 50-foot cruiser Halcyon was just pulling away from the yacht club dock en route down the Potomac when the explosion occurred.

"I was standing on the bow of the boat with my wife and Mrs. Prichard," Biddle said. "We weren't more than two or three yards from the dock when he heard this huge explosion, and the three of us were shot into the river. There was a lot of debris and flame."

"I swam to my wife and brought her to the dock posts and then grabbed Mrs. Prichard. Both of them were dazed, and I guess I was, too. Then I joined, someone else in the water who said that General Prichard had gone down. We dived under and I grabbed him just a few feet beneath the surface and pulled him to shore."

Killed Instantly Harbor police theorized that gas fumes collected around the boat's engine during refueling, and exploded when the engine was started. All of the ten persons aboard were hurled into the water. Most of them escaped with minor injuries.

Medical authorities said Prichard was killed instantly. Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said there were no burns, no fractures and no visible cause of death.

Painter, who died in Casualty hospital, suffered a compound fracture of the leg, the only outward signs of injuries.

Dr. MacDonald said autopsies will be performed today.

JOE DIMAGGIO MAY START IN ALL-STAR TILT

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, July 11 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio may be in the starting lineup tomorrow when the American league's star-studded array faces the National league's best in the 16th annual all-star game at Ebbets Field.

The way was paved for DiMaggio's appearance as a starter when Tommy Henrich, his New York Yankee outfield teammate, and No. 1 choice for the starting right field berth, said he did not think he would be fit to play. Henrich suffered a knee injury a week ago and has been out of the lineup since.

"I'd give anything to be able to play in the all-star game," Tommy said in a telephone conversation. "But I don't think I'll be able to make it. It still hurts when I try to swing a bat."

Americans Favored
Manager Lou Boudreau of the Americans has given no indication as to who will take Henrich's place, but it would come as no surprise to see Joltin' Joe patrol the right field sector at game time. (12:30 p. m. EST.)

Although Boudreau is compelled to start the fans' top selections in a nationwide poll which ended recently, he can substitute any player he sees fit in case of injury to a regular.

With or without Joe in the starting lineup, the proud American leaguers ruled a 5-7 favorite. The Americans, who haven't lost an all-star contest since 1944, will carry a three-game winning streak into the game, and a record of 11 triumphs in 15 meetings. There was no game in 1945.

Boudreau and Manager Billy Southworth of the Nationals are keeping their starting pitchers a secret. However, indications are that Boudreau will name either Virgil Trucks, Detroit (10-5) or Bob Lemon, Cleveland (9-4). Both are right-handers. Southworth is expected to open with Warren Spahn, Boston (9-8) or Howie Pollet, St. Louis (11-5). Both are southpaws.

(By The Associated Press)
It looks more all the time as though some sort of squeeze play will be necessary to settle the red hot Interstate league pennant battle. Yesterday's action did little to clear up the closely knotted situation.

Three of the scheduled double headers were rained out while in the fourth the second place Harrisburg Senators divided with the third place Wilmington Blue Rocks. Wilmington grabbed the opener 1-0 and Harrisburg the 10-inning nightcap 7-4. As a result Allentown is still in first place, a game ahead of Harrisburg and a game and a half in front of Wilmington.

The York White Roses remain four games off the Allentown pace with Lancaster in sixth, five games behind Allentown and only one percentage point ahead of Trenton. Sunbury and Hagerstown trail, 11 and 16½ games away.

Wolves may have five to fourteen young in a single litter.

A triple by Hollinger with two runners on base and two out in the last half of the ninth inning gave Emmitsburg a 7-6 triumph over the Gettysburg Aces in an Adams County league game played Saturday afternoon at Emmitsburg.

The score sawed throughout with the Aces taking a 6-3 lead in the sixth with three runs. Sanders banged out three hits for the winners while Johnson collected two for the losers.

Hanover put on another powerful scoring attack to swamp York Springs. Bill Moul, Hanover twirler, was rapped for six runs in an early inning but settled down to pitch commendably thereafter. A scout for the Phillies witnessed the game.

The Conewago VFW kept right at the heels of the league-leaders by upsetting Ortanna 8-3 at Ardenstville.

Fairfield moved into a tie with New Oxford for third place by blanking Littletown 4-0 at Littletown.

Bendersville upset New Oxford with a 3-2 victory at New Oxford.

JR. BASEBALL LOOP TO OPEN

Ira Plank, Gettysburg college baseball coach, will again be on hand this evening at 6:30 o'clock to instruct youths up to 16 years of age in baseball technique at the recreation field. A pick-up game will be held.

Each evening this week at 6:30 pick-up games will be played in preparation of the opening of the Junior Baseball league next week. New bases, bats and balls have been secured and the diamond is in good shape for games.

An all-star team will be selected from the league to play contests with teams from Hanover, East Berlin and nearby communities.

A trip to Washington, D. C. is being planned. In order to qualify each boy must show interest and give aid in the developing of the league as well as being a team member.

Paul Whitmoyer, recreation director, said today recreational leaders will be glad to have assistance in the program from anyone interested, especially from umpires.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)
A pair of shutout pitching performances gave the Binghamton Triplets big ideas today about second and third places in the Eastern league.

The Triplets, in and out of fourth place for several weeks in a hot duel with Utica, turned their attention upstairs after taking two from the Scranton Miners yesterday.

Dick Mitchell, who had lost seven straight, posted his first victory in the 1-0 opener. Tom Gorman racked up his seventh triumph in the seven-inning nightcap, 4-0. He allowed only two hits.

The double decision left George Selkirk's club three and one-half games behind Scranton in third place and four games behind Wilkes-Barre in second.

Hoop skirts once were supported by whalebone, which was expensive.

BROOKLYN WINS OVER GIANTS TO KEEP LOOP LEAD

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pennants are won by great pitching staffs—but the Brooklyn Dodgers haven't one. So they are basing their flag hopes on a crackerjack infield—Gil Hodges, Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese and Billy Cox.

Robinson especially is singled out as the man who is doing the most to keep the citizens of Flatbush happy. But the other three are contributing heavily to the cause.

Jackie, first negro to play in the majors, is the Dodgers' chief offensive threat. The all-star second baseman leads the majors in hitting with a lofty .362 mark. He's tops in hits with 111 and in stolen bases with 20. He's tied with Hodges for National league runs batted in honors at 65. And second to Reese in runs scored with 68 to Pee Wee's 69.

Robinson Beats Giants

Robinson came through in the clutch time in the rain and mud at Ebbets Field yesterday to help beat the New York Giants, 7-3, and keep the Dodgers in the lead.

He singled with the bases loaded in the third to give the Dodgers a 2-1 lead and after the Giants had tied it, he singled home Duke Snider for what proved to be the winning run in the seventh.

A defeat would have dropped the Dodgers into second place as the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals scored a double triumph over the Reds in Cincinnati to cut the Brooklyn advantage to a half game.

Pirates' Streak Broken

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen pitched the Red Birds to a 4-2 triumph in the opener and lefty Al Brazie, with help in the ninth from Gerry Staley, downed the Reds, 7-4, in the final.

The last place Chicago Cubs smashed Pittsburgh's eight-game winning streak, blasting the Pirates, 8-6 and 9-6, at Forbes Field.

Phil Cavarretta was the batting star in the opener, driving home five runs on a pair of triples, a double and single in the first game and a two run homer in the second. Ralph Kiner socked two four-baggers for the Pirates to increase his total to 23, best in the majors.

Rain postponed a game between the Boston Braves and Philadelphia at Philadelphia and a doubleheader between the Yankees and Washington at New York.

A's Lose Pair

Bobby Feller received credit for a 7-4 Cleveland triumph over the St. Louis Browns in a game that was called at the end of six innings because of rain. The second game was postponed.

Jackie Graham drove home all of the St. Louis runs with a pair of homers. His 14th and 15th of the season. The victory moved the Indians to within five and one half games of the Yankees.

The Boston Red Sox took a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-5 and 11-10, to stretch their winning streak to seven games. Dom DiMaggio decided the first game with a three-run home run in the fourth inning. Sam Chapman clouted two homers and Hank Majeski one off Ellis Kinder for Philadelphia.

Detroit Splits

The second game was called because of darkness after the Philadelphia half of the eighth. Manager Connie Mack notified plate umpire Cal Hubbard he would protest the ruling.

Detroit and Chicago split a pair, the White Sox taking the opener, 4-2 and the Tigers the nightcap, 1-0, although held to two hits by Randy Gumpert.

Lefty Bill Wright held the Tigers to five blows in beating Hal Newhouser. Gumpert walked Pat Mullin in the first inning and then yielded to run-scoring double to Dick Wertz. Art Houtteman held the Sox to four singles.

MORE TALKS ON BRITAIN'S CRISIS BEING PLANNED

London, July 11 (AP)—Britain hopes to find a solution to her dollar problem by September.

That is the upshot of a three-day, closed-door conference here between United States Treasury Secretary John Snyder, British Economic Chief Sir Stafford Cripps and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott.

Before Snyder left for Brussels on the next stage of his European tour, the three issued a joint communique. It promised fact-finding discussions right away and more ministerial talks in Washington in September.

"The aim," it said, "must be the achievement of a pattern of world trade in which dollar and non-dollar countries can operate together within one single multi-lateral system."

Seek Other Remedies

The men met at the end of a week which saw Cripps tell Britain her dollar and gold reserves had sunk almost $400,000,000 below the $2,000,000,000 danger line, and order a three-month moratorium on all but urgent dollar purchases.

The communique emphasized that "remedies" for Britain's plight other than financial assistance such as that provided by the United States and Canada must be explored.

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—Charles Atherton, of Charleston, W. Va., won a race against time in capturing the Pennsylvania Junior Tennis championship.

Atherton, who attends Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., yesterday defeated Dave Shibley, State College, Pa., in a final round match limited to 90 minutes, 7-5, 4-6, 3-1.

The championship match was shifted to an indoor court near Ardmore when rain prevented its being played at the Cynwyd club. Because of previous bookings the indoor court was available for only an hour and a half.

Los Angeles, July 11 (AP)—The 24th annual National Amateur Public Links Golf championship gets under way today, and the title chase is as unpredictable as Texas weather.

Two hundred and twenty players, gathered from all sections of the nation, were listed on the official roll of the United States Golf association for competition in the first round of match play.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Reading, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Maybe it's the golf influence, but Gene Venitz, the retired mile runner, pro-pokes sectional qualifying tests for the national track championships.

Gene, who operates a fancy driving and putting layout near here, followed the pros around the Reading Open last week and complained that he can't play golf because he doesn't have time for intensive practice.

"I've rather lost interest in track since I retired," explained the big guy who ran those great miles against Bill Bonthron, Jack Lovelock, etc., "I never did like outdoor track much; indoor running was my dish. Those Garden meets have action and color and it's all packed into a three-hour show."

I think all sports should be run for the benefit of the spectators and outdoor meets are too big and too dull for them. . . . Maybe if they had something like sectional qualifying meets, they could do away with all those heats."

FREEDOM OF SEES

Clayton Heafner, who blew a four-foot putt that would have given him a tie with Cary Middlecoff for the Open champion, gets a chuckle out of it now, with the aid of an unknown benefactor. . . . While the touring golfers were in Detroit, Clayton received a box containing some long-stemmed roses as an expression of sympathy and a trick putter with a mirror attachment that makes it possible to see the ball and the hole at the same time. . . . "With this gadget," the donor explained, "I'll guarantee you can make all putts up to ten feet."

MONDAY MATINEE

Cary Middlecoff, who isn't a member of the PGA, can have the last laugh on the guys who make the Ryder Cup team. While they're overseas Cary has an exhibition lined up every day. Andy Seminick, the Phillies' "All-Star" catcher, who has been out of action, is in good enough condition to take a crack at the American leaguers in Brooklyn tomorrow. . . . The cook at Kid Gavilan's training camp insisted on calling him "Kid Gasoline" but that doesn't mean he'll explode against Ray Robinson tonight. . . . Art Wall, the recent Duke university graduate from Honesdale, Pa., shot his 28th hole in one on July 1. . . . Record in reverse for the Reading Open was made by Buddy Lutz, a local amateur who really knows the course. He took sevens on the long fifth hole on four successive rounds.

Other than financial assistance such as that provided by the United States and Canada must be explored.

"No suggestion was made that sterling be devalued," the statement said. Cutting the value of the pound in order to make British goods cheaper in terms of dollars has been widely recommended in the U. S. to help Britain out of her plight. It urged all countries concerned to review their policies to obtain a wider, manysided trade.

Flowers were placed on the altar of Redeemer's Reformed church at the service on Sunday morning in memory of Maurice F. Rider, a former elder of the church, by his daughters, Mrs. Winifred Rider Rood, Mrs. Betty Rider Baker and Mrs. Aletta Rider Gail. At a special service in the church on Sunday afternoon, the pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, received into membership by the rite of confirmation, Mrs. Alma E. Dubbs and Mrs. Ruby A. Bittle. Following confirmation the pastor baptized Carlotta Jane Dubbs, infant daughter of Donald L. and Alma E. Dubbs, born at the Hanover hospital, December 30, 1947; and Bonnie Jean Bittle, infant daughter of George R. and Ruby A. Bittle, born at the Warner hospital, October 18, 1948. The parents were the sponsors. Sunday evening, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, conducted the church service for Littlestown Boy Scout Troop No. 84 at their camp at Natural Dam.

Celebration: Agreeably to arrangement, the members of "Adams Division, No. 214, S. of T." and "Day Spring Section, No. 66 C. of T.", with members of Hanover, New Oxford and the neighboring Divisions, convened in Gettysburg on the 4th inst., to celebrate the seventy-third anniversary of the Declaration of our National Independence. A procession was formed at 10 o'clock. A. M., in front of the Division Room under orders of Col. S. S. McGreary, Chief Marshal, and Messrs. P. J. Trusill, R. D. Armor and J. C. Ellis, as Assistants and proceeded to the German Reformed church, where the Declaration of Independence was read by D. McConaughy, Esq., and an interesting address delivered by Mr. Reuben A. Fink—Rev. Dr. Schmucker and Rev. Mr. Keller conducting the religious exercises, and the "Gettys Lodge Band" supplying the music.

The church exercises concluded, the procession re-formed, and after marching through the different streets of the town, repaired to the "Washington House," where a most excellent dinner was prepared by Mr. Minnigh. From 160 to 200 persons having fully canvassed the merits of the many good things, the cloth was removed and the company organized by appointing the following officers:

President—D. G. W. P., John Culp. Vice Presidents—Solomon Powers, P. W. P., Jacob Wonderly, P. W. P., David Myers, Thos. Snodgrass, Daniel Bear, James Orr, W. A. Johnston, H. Skelly, P. W. After the reading of toasts a large number again united in procession and proceeded to Swisher's Grove, where the remainder of the day was spent in pleasant exercises.

Our young men of the Borough have determined to form a Volunteer Company, and having a sufficient number enrolled, are making arrangements for an immediate organization.

Closing Early.—We understand that the merchants of Gettysburg have very sensibly determined to close their places of business at 7 o'clock P. M. and to continue during the hot weather. Persons in town and country, dealing at stores, will regulate their purchases accordingly.

The Fourth.—While there was no special celebration of the Fourth in Gettysburg, the day was observed by a general cessation of business and numerous Pic-Nic parties. Towards evening the parties were hurried home by a heavy storm, or rather succession of storms. The tournament and fire-works which had been arranged to come off at the Springs Hotel under the superintendence of Mr. John M. Warner, went over to Monday night.

In Gettysburg we had but a slight fall of hail. The electric discharges were intense and frequent. On the farm of Mr. Benjamin Deardorff, of Franklin township, some 25 or 30 trees were uprooted and prostrated by the storm.

Mr. David McGrew, in Cumberland township, was prostrated by an electric discharge, and remained insensible for several hours. Dr. Bott, of this place, was called in.

Today's Talk

THE SMALL TOWN

I shall never cease to be grateful over the fact that I was both born, and lived the early part of my life, in a small town. You knew almost everybody, from the town marshal, the druggist and the harness maker, to the High School Principal, and the town's clergymen.

There was a friendliness that was spread all over the town. There was community interest. Co-operation and a democracy of spirit were always alive. People travelled and came back with ideas that were distributed. Sunday was a day of worship and the many churches were filled with people eager to gain spiritual sustenance.

The small town, with its weekly newspaper, is the backbone of every country, and a goodly portion of a country's great men and women were reared in the small town. Most came from humble origin. And I have never met a man or woman who didn't take pride in the fact.

People take time to think in the small town. They keep informed and from many a one have come our most outstanding Presidents and legislators, as well as those who have contributed to the life of the nation and to the world.

Our great educational institutions are filled with students who have come from the small towns—and if you have listened to the broadcasters of baseball games, you have learned that a majority of our great ball players came from the small towns! In traveling across the country, in a car, you will pass through many a small town and you will learn from each. They are a happy, useful lot of people who live in them.

We, who have been born and lived in these small towns, carry many happy memories with us all through life, and these memories grow richer with the years. The church, the school, and the library are outstanding institutions in the small town. They are its intellectual and spiritual guardians. No one who has ever lived in a small town can forget its endless benefits.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Confidence"

TOUGH GUY

He was something of a cynic or a realistic guy. "It's been twenty years," he boasted, "since I've had a teary eye."

Said he chose the girl he married for her skill at making pie. "All sentiment is stupid. None can alter what's to be. The heart's a silly organ; it's the mind that governs me. I will never lose my senses," many times he said to me.

Well, the girl this cynic married for the pie that pleased him so said: "I think the baby's coming. It is time for us to go."

And the tough guy got excited and his fears began to show. There were heads of perspiration on that realistic brow. He drove his car much faster than the driving laws allow. And he told the sweet pie-maker: "May the Lord be with us now."

He asked countless, foolish questions, as all fathers have before: Bit his finger-nails and fretted as he paced the corridor; When they brought his baby to him he fell flat upon the floor.

Undoubtedly they are holding him for a heavy ransom, as his father has received an anonymous communication making an offer to return the child for ten thousand dollars. He has given notice through an advertisement in the newspapers that he is ready to negotiate to the extent of his ability, but it would be very much more satisfactory if the police could lay hands on the mercenary scoundrels who have committed this most terrible outrage. The crime is one of the most unusual in this country, and it would be a cause of great regret if the law should fail to detect and punish them.

EXPLAINS WHY CHINESE REDS ARE ANTI-U.S.

By JAMES D. WHITE
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

The anti-American incidents reported from Shanghai occur in a Communist setting, but are not necessarily the direct work of the Reds.

The police who beat up a young American vice-consul are the same ones who served before Shanghai went Red. They might have done the same sort of thing before, if they had thought they could get away with it. They have no love for Americans, but considerable envy and prejudice.

The former employees of the U. S. Navy who besieged the U. S. Consulate-General in Shanghai at the same time, demanding more severance pay, also could have staged the same stunt before the Reds came if they had thought it would do them any good.

Coming To Surface

The point is that they now think these things may do them some good. This is because the Reds have been filling the air with anti-American statements for purposes considerably bigger than Shanghai. Envy and prejudice against the foreigner, always present in China, are coming to the surface just as they did when Chiang Kai-shek triumphed in 1927 and after V-J Day. The difference between now and then is this:

Chiang needed help from abroad more urgently than the Reds do now and so his Nanking government could not allow such incidents to continue. The Reds might be able to stop them now, but are not likely to because their need for immediate help is by no means so urgent.

Foreigners Unwelcome

Meanwhile such things can be expected to continue. A great many Chinese need little urging to let the foreigner—who has been around more than a century, living far better than most of them could hope to—know that he is tolerated at best and unwelcome at the worst.

The Reds have capitalized upon this because as the Nanking government grew weaker in the civil war, it became more dependent upon American aid or the prospect thereof. The Reds said this showed that Nanking was a "puppet of American imperialism." The weaker Nanking grew the better this argument sounded to a lot of Chinese.

Strategic Position

Their resentment of foreigners focused more and more on Americans, with the Reds helping at every turn.

The Reds have chosen this course partly because they are Communists, but also because they occupy a certain strategic position in world politics.

As a non-Communist power, China would have no bargaining power to speak of with Russia, and no more with the West than Chiang Kai-shek had. As history has shown, that was not enough.

Water, sulphur and salt are impurities which are found in some crude oils.

The Chinese used natural gas as fuel to evaporate brine for salt more than 2,000 years ago.

Ford Arbitrators' Decision Is Split

Detroit, July 11 (AP)—A split arbitrators' verdict Saturday came out of the Ford Motor company's recent speed-up strike. An "absolute answer," it said, is "not possible."

And its reception was varied. The CIO United Auto Workers, whose 25-day strike idled 106,000 workers, claimed a "complete victory." Ford, after an initial study, said it was "not sure" of the meaning.

Two members of the three-member arbitration panel, named to decide a dispute over assembly line speeds, signed the findings. The third—Ford's appointee to the panel—dissented.

The next step, if any, was not indicated. It was assumed, however, that the arbitrators' "final and bind-

Summer Seed Sowing Easy By This Simple Technique

A surprising number of experienced gardeners do not sow short-harvest vegetables in midsummer for a fall crop. Many complain they have tried it, only to have the seeds lie inert in the soil, or the seedlings die in infancy.

This will often be the case when seeds are sown just as they are in cool, moist spring weather, without the simple precautions which can be taken to protect them from drouth and heat. But there is no excuse for giving up the job, because of a few failures.

Beans, beets, carrots, turnips and rutabagas, and endive, Chinese cabbage, Brussels sprouts and broccoli should all be sown in late June or early July for fall harvest, otherwise much of your garden will be idle, and your diet will be lacking these excellent foods.

All you have to do is to make sure the seeds you sow have moisture sufficient to germinate them, and that when they sprout they will not find a hard, sun-baked crust of clay soil over them which they cannot penetrate.

It is easy to do this. First, make the drill in which you sow the seeds deeper than in the spring. Let the hose run in it until the soil is soaked at least six inches deep. Now sow the seeds, and cover them with porous soil, containing as little clay as possible. Peat alone makes a good covering, or it may be mixed with sifted top soil, or sand. A mixture of top soil and sand is good if the soil is black, with little clay content.

Cover the seeds lightly, leaving a slight depression which will collect moisture. Now provide shade from the hot sun. A mulch of peat, dried lawn clippings, burlap, sawdust, or similar material will serve. So will a narrow board placed above the drill, and held up with wood blocks an inch high, so air will circulate below. Keep the soil moist by sprinkling if necessary until the seeds sprout.

As soon as sprouts appear, the covering must be removed, to give all possible light; and the seedling plants should be sprinkled daily until they become established. After that, they will thrive on the care given the rest of the garden.

Lettuce suffers so much from heat it is better to wait until mid-July to sow it. If days are above 90 degrees, put the seed in a moist towel and keep in the refrigerator overnight. Dry the seeds before sowing.

Germination will be much better, and the seedling plants will grow rapidly in the cooler nights which come after mid-July.

Before sowing seed of any follow crop, the soil should be fed with at least two pounds of plant food for each 100 square feet, or 100 feet of row.

Electron microscopes can show particles of about one 8,000,000th of an inch in size.

Evergreens Beset By Spider Plague

Red spiders multiply rapidly in dry, hot weather. This is the main reason the tiny pests have built populations to such startling proportions in recent days. Spiders are teeming over evergreens, their favorite host, in many of the Eastern states. Virtually no section of the country is immune to the damage they do.

Their name is somewhat misleading, for the mites may vary in color from pale yellow to orange, red or greenish.

Their presence is indicated when evergreens turn light green or brown, depending upon the severity of infestation.

For emergency control, wash down affected plants with a strong stream of water every two or three days and follow with a spray solution of nicotine sulphate. The preferred solution is one part nicotine and one part liquid soap to 800 parts of water. Spraying may have to be repeated if new infestations develop.

BY PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 31

A man came running diagonally across the street toward him. It was Bill Tyler!

"Hold up there! We got you, Tyler!"

The door was unlocked. Slug pushed it open and started backing across the threshold. Bill fired and he stumbled, still clinging to the door. He pulled himself about and tried to close it. Another shot and he rocked to the impact of the bullet. He fell against the door and it closed under his weight. He found the bolt and shot it, then started for the inner room. He took two stumbling steps and went down.

His body was numb but he was telling himself that he mustn't fail now. He lay like a dead man for a dozen seconds, then gathered his strength for a final effort. He started to crawl toward the office door. Outside he could hear Frothingham calling to men to surround the house.

Jeff stood in the middle of the floor, tightly bound hand and foot. He could not move without falling. Glenn was working on Connie. He had tied her hands behind her and then, making her sit in a chair, had bound her ankles. Now he was twisting a scarf to make a gag. As he worked he talked. He had to talk. It would have been safer to kill them both as he had outlined to Jeff, but that would leave his revenge unfinished. He wanted Jeff to realize how full this revenge had been.

He said to Connie, "Sorry I have to do this, but it can't be helped. I'll have to put you into the closet where you'll be out of sight, and it would be embarrassing if you were to make a sound."

Jeff had no illusions regarding their fate. With himself dead, Glenn's safety was assured, provided that Connie did not betray him. Glenn would shoot his foster brother, deliberately, callously, and claim that he had tried to escape. And with Jeff out of the way nobody would know that Connie, bound and gagged, had been stuffed in the closet behind the thick curtain. Nobody but Glenn. What he intended to do with her Jeff did not know. He might just proceed to forget that she was there.

He glanced desperately about him. His gun lay on Glenn's desk, six feet away; he could reach it in two hops, but his hands were bound behind his back and long before he could use it Glenn could kill him. Perhaps Glenn had left it there to tempt him. On the floor, three feet behind him, lay the gun Connie had dropped. If he fell backwards—

Glenn finished tying the gag and Connie was helpless. Picking her up, he backed through the entrance to the closet, his mocking gaze on Jeff as though daring him to try for the gun on the desk. He came out almost immediately and drew the curtain so that it covered the entrance. His gaze had not left Jeff even when backing into the closet, and he held a Derringer in his hand.

The front door latch rattled and both men turned their heads. They heard a shout and then the crash of a shot. Almost at once there was a second shot, then the slam of the door, the sound of two uncertain steps, and a heavy thud. Glenn glided to the doorway and peered into the reception room. He raised his gun, then lowered it. He turned back into the room.

"It's Slug Benjamin, and he's gone to his reward," he said. "It's a significant name. It's a wonder you didn't associate it with somebody else we both knew."

"I did," said Jeff calmly. "With Benjamin Short, the man who gave your father the fake alibi."

Glenn started. "You know? Thought I'd surprise you. So he's been talking, has he?"

"Plenty. Enough to hang you, Glenn."

"Yes?" Glenn's face was unpleasant. "We'll see about that."

Outside the house they could hear Bill Frothingham calling to his men. Glenn went on. "You know, Jeff, I've been looking forward to this ever since the night you hanged my father. You took an oath that night and so did I. And I'm keeping mine just as well as you've kept yours. My oath was to make you and your father pay for what you did."

"I took every cent you offered me and asked for more; I drove you to sacrifices. I made you work. You went hungry, but I didn't. Keeping me in cash broke your father and helped kill him. I was glad of it. It kept you from getting ahead; every time you showed signs of making progress I found I needed more money, more clothes," he chuckled. "or an office in Briscoe."

The voices of men were louder now, and boots clumped along the passageway leading from street to alley.

"You'd better hurry," said Jeff. "or you won't have time to finish."

"I'm about through," said Glenn. "Not quite as detailed as I'd like to have made it, but it will have to do."

"A killer and the son of a killer," said Jeff calmly. "I'm glad you spared me long enough to learn the truth."

Flame kindled in Glenn's eyes and the Derringer whipped up. Jeff threw himself backwards, his fingers tensing to clutch at the gun which lay on the floor behind him. Foolish, of course; he was bound and he must roll over and fire wildly

EXPECT DIET OF ECONOMICS FOR SUMMER

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 11 (AP) — Now that the spy cases have been put on ice—and unless we run into some unforeseen sensations—we can look forward to a summer diet of economics.

President Truman makes his economic report to Congress today. And that is sure to be the cause of jeers and cheers in Congress. It always is, every time he makes one.

In fact, the jawing back and forth about it, in and out of Congress, will use up a good part of the week, at least. And you will be hearing references to it up into next winter.

Public Will Be Puzzled

As usual, this will leave the public a bit puzzled as to who's right and who's wrong. But things will work out and that we won't, in the end, land on our skulls with our pockets empty and no jobs.

This puzzlement can be expected any time the economists start flinging their jargon around since, after all, economics isn't a science, and a lot of experts were wrong in 1929, and since.

Meanwhile, we'll have the British economic crisis with us for a good while. It won't be solved in a day or a week. We'll be hearing about that for months, particularly since we'll be involved in whatever the British do.

There's the question of whether the CIO Auto Workers and the Steel Workers will go on strike. That decision certainly will have an effect on the economy, which is skidding a bit already.

But that isn't all. In Congress a House committee was to begin today an investigation into monopoly in this country. So we'll be hearing about that.

Then we'll have to sit through—before Congress quits this summer—debates in Congress on renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act. This seems certain to get congressional approval, but not without a lot of palaver. Congress is away behind time on this one.

It was supposed to have been renewed before the date of its death, June 30—it had regularly been renewed every two or three years since 1934—but the Senate didn't get around to it.

And when the Senate gets through approving the North Atlantic pact—its working on that now seems sure to okay it and will then tackle the Reciprocal Trade renewal—it may take up the problem of voting money for arms for Europe, perhaps $1 billion.

Californian Still Soaring Champion

Elmira, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—A 23-year-old Californian keeps the Richard C. du Pont trophy as National soaring champion for a second year.

Paul B. MacCreedy, Jr., of San Marino, had a 74-point lead and a total of 708 contest miles when the 16th National Soaring contest wound up yesterday. The 1947 titlist, Richard J. Comey, 29, of Weston, Mass., finished second.

No records were broken in the nine-day event, which was hampered on several days by unfavorable weather for sailplanes. There were no serious accidents.

Four pilots won a total of $250 yesterday in a 20-mile race to Blue Swan airport at Sayre, Pa., which did not affect point standings. The prizes were donated by the Beech Aircraft Co. of Wichita, Kas.

STUDENT KILLED

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—A 20-year-old West Chester Teachers' college student was killed and two other persons injured in an intersection collision of two cars. Police identified the victim of yesterday's crash as Bernard Kaytes, of Philadelphia. Kaytes' fiancée, Doris Gartman, 20, is in Frankford hospital with scalp injuries and contusions of the left hip.

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Edward Bains, 74, president and founder of the Bloomsburg (Pa.) hosiery mills. Bains died yesterday in Germantown hospital after a long illness. He is survived by his widow, a Philadelphia artist; a sister and brother, both living in California.

PA. GUARDSMEN BEGIN TRAINING AT GAP TODAY

Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 11 (AP) — Some 5,000 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen rolled out of their barracks early this morning to begin the serious business of field soldiering for two weeks.

Reveille sounded at 4:40 a. m. (EST), 45 minutes earlier than last year. After a visit to the messhalls for breakfast, the troops set out for the field and the 1949 summer FNG encampment was officially underway at the huge military reservation here.

The two PNG units training here are the tenth corps artillery, under the command of Brig. Gen. William S. Bailey, Harrisburg, and the 11th regimental combat team, under Col. Arthur C. Kemp, Yeading. In addition, some 2,000 troops of the Virginia National Guard are encamped here.

day Saturday and early yesterday morning. The citizens-soldiers spent most of their time yesterday limbering up for the tough 57 hours of training that lies ahead.

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Weber, camp commander and state adjutant general, joined with the unit leaders in welcoming the men to the camp at separate rallies. There they heard their program outlined.

Of the total field training time, 57 hours will be devoted to tactical training at the section level, eight to individual weapons, seven to individual tactics, seven to proficiency tests, three to ceremonies and two for inspections.

Boys Coming Thursday
The present troops will be followed on July 30 by the PNG's backbone, the 11,000 officers and men of the 28th Infantry Division.

Some 3,250 teen-age boys will take over another corner of the reservation this Thursday as the Commonwealth opens its first free camp for underprivileged children.

Gov. James H. Duff, who asked the 1949 General Assembly for $600,000 to establish "Camp Penn," told 160 counselors here last night that it may lead to a "national movement that is necessary to get the world on its feet."

"We are hopeful that this movement will spread an offensive of good will all over the United States," the governor said in a short address before the men who underwent an orientation program over the week-end.

Mindszenty Sentence Confirmed By Court

Budapest, Hungary, July 11 (AP)—Hungary's appeals court Saturday confirmed the life imprisonment sentence of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty. The court approved the verdict of the People's Court and refused to commute the penalty.

Three of the cardinal's co-defendants received reduced sentences. The sentences of three others were confirmed.

The cardinal was convicted February 8 of treason, espionage and black market currency dealings. The five man People's Court sentenced him to life imprisonment. There were parades of protest and demonstration in many parts of the world following the sentencing.

The United States and other nations charged before the United Nations that human rights were violated. The U. N. General Assembly approved in April an American-backed plan to take up the conduct of the trial under terms of the Hungarian peace treaty.

nie, you'll never break that mustang if you wait for him to come up to you and beg for sugar. You gotta rope him and slap your brand on him before he has a chance to buck out of the loop."

He kissed her shining hair.

"Bless his heart, I reckon he was right. Ah, darling, the brand is there; it's been there ever since that first day on the Cougar road. And here's one mustang that never, never will buck out of the loop!"

is now serving a life sentence in the Eastern penitentiary. Staley, the court was told, admitted to Simmons' parents and an attorney last January that Simmons was "too dead drunk" to have anything to do with the slaying of Humpert and did not wield the death weapon.

No Defense Fund. Meanwhile, counsel for Simmons warned that a reported solicitation of funds to finance a defense program for the convicted man does not have the authorization of Simmons' parents or anyone else.

It has been reported that a former inmate of the Dauphin county prison is soliciting money which he claims will be used to pay for court expenses for Simmons. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Simmons, Mechanicsburg, state the former prisoner's actions are without their authority and started without their knowledge.

The rest of their findings, the raid, arrests, interrogations and finally the hearings are well known to almost everybody now.

DON'T COUNT CHIANG OUT OF CHINA PICTURE

By JAMES D. WHITE
(AP Foreign News Analyst)

For the first time since 1943, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has left China's soil.

This time the stated purpose is to talk over the Communist question in Asia with President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines.

Accompanied by such aides as his publicity expert, Wang Shih-chieh, the Gimo has flown into northern Luzon from his island retreat on Formosa. An official source said Chiang and Quirino talked about forming a non-military Pacific front against Communism.

The visit is another example of the Gimo's real if reduced importance. He operates in a kind of political sub-stratosphere. He has "retired" as president of China, but not resigned. While no longer the acting titular head of the Chinese government, he remains for many reasons the No. 1 non-Communist leader in his country.

He is still the acknowledged head of the Kuomintang, the government party. This position entails the following:

The government—still the legally recognized government of China—is answerable to him through the party. So is the army. So are the navy and airforce, which have cut off Red China's foreign trade by enforcing the closure of Red ports without calling what they have done a blockade.

Still In Picture

"Retired" or not, Chiang still is firmly in the picture. When he called for American aid against the Communists last week he commanded widespread attention in the American press.

One thing he and Quirino talked about is the idea of a Pacific pact against Communism—to be underwritten by the United States. This would be a big step beyond the political alliance proposed by the Pacific front against Communism.

This idea has been in the heads of non-Communist Asiatic leaders ever since the Atlantic pact was announced. Quirino himself has discussed it, but he appears to have had in mind a kind of economic union. Chiang, whose armies have lost most of their American equipment to the Reds, would probably like to see a military defense arrangement which would give him more arms.

Timely Visit

However, the prospects for a Pacific pact don't look too bright as of this moment.

However, Chiang's visit to the Philippines is another way of keeping the idea alive. It also serves to keep his person in the news at a time when there is sentiment in Washington to try giving him some more help against the Reds.

The Communists have given him the biggest boost, however. In Shanghai they let the police work over a young American vice consul. One American beaten up in Red Shanghai probably does Chiang Kai-shek's cause more good in this country than a dozen political conferences.

STORING WHEAT BIG HEADACHE IN THIS STATE

Harrisburg, July 11 (AP)—A lack of storage space for Pennsylvania's 21,000,000-bushel wheat crop today turned into a major headache for commonwealth farmers.

The Pennsylvania production and marketing committee said the wheat storage problem is rapidly becoming the state's number one agricultural dilemma with harvest now in full swing in the 17 southeastern counties producing half the state's crop.

"All week PMA headquarters have been receiving complaints that farmers are being forced to accept the open market price of $1.60 to $1.80 per bushel because elevator space is not available for price support wheat," John A. Smith, secretary, explained.

Top Market Price

The committee, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, supports the price of wheat at 90 per cent of parity. Last week the support price program was announced at between $2.09 and $2.15, depending on the distance from terminal elevators at Baltimore and Philadelphia.

"Space available for Pennsylvania wheat in these terminals has been completely absorbed by earlier harvested wheat in Delaware and Maryland," Smith said.

Committees Helpless

The only space available for Pennsylvania wheat in these terminals is space allotted to commercial shippers who are paying about 40 cents a bushel under the support price, Smith continued.

County agricultural conservation committees are helpless, he said, in securing prices for farmers since elevator space under contract to the commodity credit corporation totals less than 400,000 bushels.

"The only hope that farmers have in securing the support price seems to rest on their ability to store wheat on the farm," he added.

New York, July 11 (AP)—The espionage trail of Judith Coplan, a Russian engineer, Valentin Gubitchev has been put off until Oct. 15. The case, scheduled to start July 11, was adjourned suddenly because of the unavailability now of a judge in the southern federal district of New York to preside at the trial.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg — The mayor and commissioners of Emmitsburg met in regular session last week in the Emmitsburg firemen's hall with all members of the board present.

Several complaints from citizens of the town were discussed and acted upon. One complaint was made against the Hanover Shoe factory which revolved around the smoke and soot caused by the factory's incinerating system. Another was presented by the Emmitsburg Manufacturing company concerning the condition of the alley beside the plant. It stated that due to erosion and weeds the way was inaccessible and that it was public property and should be maintained. The complaint was taken under advisement.

The third complaint registered was about dogs barking during the day and night. This matter was referred to the police department.

Attention was called to children roller skating after 6 p. m. This is contrary to the town ordinance prohibiting such skating, and in the future the law will be enforced.

The town officials ordered the sewer cover in front of the Neck property and the bridge railing over the run adjacent to the property repaired.

Mayor Rodgers announced that the new shipment of parking meter heads had arrived and that they would be placed on East and West Main streets. Revenue from the
